ANNAPOLIS. THURSDAY, DEC. 29, 1825.

HYMENEAL. Married, on Thursday evening last, by the Rev. Mr. Watkins, Mr. Benjamin Sewell, to the Caroline Davis, all of this city.

The General Report from the treasurer of the western shore to our state legislature, is a useful paper and it is to be regretted that in consequence of the death of the late incumbent, the statements necessary to make it complete could not be obtained.

SENATE.

The Senate formed a quorum on Monday, and organized their body by re-appointing the former clerks and officers.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE OF MARYLAND.

You will soon be called upon to perform the annual duty of appointing the Executive of the State. A duty which the political History of Maryland will show, I fear, to have been frequently performed without due regard to fitness of character in the persons selected.

Undoubtedly the leading office in the Executive Department of our Government, is not only so arduous a nature and so deep a responsibility, as is the same office in several of the other States of the Union.

It is evident from this Report, that the equivocal condition of commerce, partly arising from the effects of the tariff, and from the changes in British trade, makes it difficult, and requires considerable sagacity in the respectable head of the Treasury to arrive at much precision in his estimate for 1826.

It has been publicly suggested, that a certain county claims the honour of giving the Governor for the approaching term, on the score of its having been a long time since that honour has been accorded to it.

GEN. LAFAYETTE

Is this noticed in the message of the acting Governor of Florida to the State Legislature: "I recommend to you, gentlemen, to pass an immediate resolution, inviting the General to visit us during the autumnal and hibernal months of the ensuing year, to abide for a period among us, to see with his own eyes his superb estate, and to give our citizens also, new reasons to admire and to love him."

"New productions, new modes of cultivation, new charms of society and sources of labour, better than those we have been accustomed to look to, would be among the happy results. In the interval, I recommend to all my fellow-citizens, without distinction, to consider themselves as the guardians of his rights and interest, to defend his property from any injury, or deprivations, and to do every thing which can advance his profit. Did I say that to my fellow-citizens, I placed this course of conduct in the light of a recommendation? I was wrong! I strictly charged it upon them, as a most sacred duty. I further recommend to you, gentlemen, to pass a law exempting the whaler from the duties of the General in Florida, from every species of taxation, during his natural life."

A WHALE.—Capt. Hobson, of the Whale ship Neptune of New London, has written home, that on the 12th of August, he fell in with a school of Sperm Whales; he lowered his boat and soon fastened to one—the line got round the loggerhead and took the boat down, and with it Nathan Fish, the steersman. The boat appeared in about 20 minutes—and he with it, but before the boat could be turned the whale took both down, and the unfortunate man was cut loose, of course drowned. The line was found wound round his finger and that holding only by a part of the skin. He was one of the best men on board.

A CHEAP HUSBAND. A young servant girl, who had conducted herself very much to the satisfaction of her mistress, was presented by her with £5, to serve as a marriage portion. Some time after, her mistress desired to see her lover. He was ugly and mis-shapen. "My good lass," said the lady, "what a comical husband you have chosen!" "Ahl Madam," replied the girl, with much simplicity; "what can one expect to get for five pounds?"

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY OF THE U. S.

We have only been able to take a hasty glance at the Report of the Secretary of the Treasury, of the U. S. $4,915,269 will, it is estimated, remain in the Treasury after the current expenses of the year are paid, on the last day of December, 1825. This intelligence is the more gratifying, when it is recollected that it is accomplished without the aid of taxation. Our exports exceed 92 millions, and our imports 91 millions, 81 millions being transported to this country in American bottoms, which is a most flattering proof of the flourishing state of our commercial affairs, when it is known that our foreign trade with most nations is governed by an equalization of duties on imports, according to the provisions of the act of March 3, 1815, and that at this time, each nation of the globe partakes of its proper share of maritime trade.

It is evident from this Report, that the equivocal condition of commerce, partly arising from the effects of the tariff, and from the changes in British trade, makes it difficult, and requires considerable sagacity in the respectable head of the Treasury to arrive at much precision in his estimate for 1826.

A letter from a senator in congress to the editor of the Baltimore Patriot, says the excess of the revenue has induced many members to talk of reduction of the duties on such articles as enter into the consumption of almost every family such as coffee, tea, cocoa, wines, and salt. It may be necessary to prevent smuggling from the North American colonies. Already the importation of tea into them has been felt by our China merchants. They pay little duty whilst our duties are extravagantly high. We pay five dollars duty on one hundred pounds of coffee, whilst they pay only one dollar.

EL EMPESINADO

Don Juan MARTIN, of the above name in consequence of his various and successful undertakings against the French during the war of independence in 1808 and 1814—he received 42 wounds in defence of his king and country—killed and took prisoners above 20,000 men, and was considered the model of Guerilla chiefs. He was a man of strict probity, and of excellent morals; humane, brave, and generous to a fault; devoted to his country's liberty, he was ever ready to sacrifice his quiet and repose in its defence. By a decree of the king in 1815, he was allowed to take and use the surname of El Empeinado.

On the late invasion by the French he again took arms and was one of the last to capitulate, trusting to French honour. Since the moment of his surrender he has been imprisoned in the small town of Roda, where he has suffered every abuse and cruelty that man could suffer and live. Every Sunday he was exposed publicly in the market place, where he was pelted with dirt, spit upon and kicked by the populace. Neither his services, nor his appearance, with his long grey beard, could move any compassion in the hearts of his barbarous tormentors. During this scene some friar preached to the multitude in defence of the altar and throne, working the mob up to that pitch, that the poor El Empeinado was often taken back to his dungeon without signs of life; my informant once saw him extended on the ground, his white hairs stained in blood from the kicks and blows of the mob, one of his eyes nearly out of his head, and in this state thrown again into prison, with only his scanty allowance of bread and water! A few months since he was "shot," for having taken arms in defence of the constitution, against the French troops and the defenders of the faith. He however lives in the hearts of some of his countrymen; dreadful will be the day of retribution, when his blood shall demand & obtain vengeance. Boston Patriot.

EXTRAORDINARY CASE.

A man named William Huddleston, aged 24, a native of Dutchess County, has been exhibited near the New Ferry in the village of Brooklyn, on account of his extraordinary leg. Five years ago his right leg began to grow and has continued gradually to enlarge and is now two feet six inches in circumference—His left leg is just beginning to grow in like manner. His body does not participate in this singularity, but the country is impaired by it. His age is beyond the reach of the fabled.

REGULATION.

The Kentucky White of the 15th inst. says—"Letters from Orleans represent that Mr. West, Cashier of the U. S. Branch Bank at that place, has absconded, with about fifty to eighty thousand dollars belonging to the Institution. When the editor knew Mr. West he was reputed to be a gentleman whose principles were unsuspected, and whose character was without suspicion, stain or reproach. His recent conduct is another instructive lesson to the people, to observe the movements of their public servants with jealousy and suspicion."

FIRE IN KENTUCKY.

In consequence of the conflagration of the state house at Frankfort, Ky. about a year ago, the legislature of Kentucky has held its sittings in church in the same town. By the last mail we have the intelligence that this church was also destroyed by fire on the evening of the 12th inst. It was supposed that this calamity would induce the legislature to close the session without acting upon a number of important measures before them.

FROM RIO DE JANEIRO.

The intelligence, of the defeat of the Brazilian troops by the Patriots of the Banda Oriental, had reached Rio, and it was added that the Brazilian soldiers had gone over to the side of the patriots. Balt. Gaz.

NAVAL ORDER.

The Baltimore American says—"We are truly gratified in being enabled to state, that an order has been issued from the Navy Department directing that all outfits and repairs required by the squadron in the West-Indies, under the command of Com. Warrington, shall be made at the port of Baltimore.

N. F. WILLIAMS, Esq.

The Baltimore Patriot says—"We are authorized in stating, that MATTHEW F. WILLIAMS, never did aspire to, and is not a candidate for the office of Governor of Maryland.

EMIGRANTS TO LIBERIA.

The Boston Daily Advertiser of the 20th inst. says—"About forty coloured emigrants from the state of Rhode Island, are expected to sail from this port to Liberia on the 25th inst. On Sunday evening they assembled in Providence, and addresses were made by the members of the Colonization Society, explaining the objects and plans of the society."

DISTURBANCE AT THE BOSTON THEATRE.

The New York Evening Post of Friday furnishes the following details of a tumult at the Boston Theatre on the occasion of the appearance of the actor: "Prior to the Boston Theatre—a gentleman arrived here this morning in the steamboat Washington, from New London, informs us, that a mob broke into the Theatre on Wednesday evening, and demolished the whole interior of the building, lamps, chandeliers, &c. &c. Mr. Kean was to have made his first appearance on that evening, in Richard the 3d, and when the curtain rose, stepped forward to make his bow, apologize to the audience, and ask forgiveness for errors which he committed when last in Boston. The house was full to overflowing. At first the opposition was feeble, but in a few moments it became violent and unmanageable—applaud, rotten eggs, and other missiles were hurled at him from the upper boxes, and he retired and informed the managers that he was afraid of his life, and would leave the Theatre directly, which he did, took a post-chaise and drove out of town."

SPAIN.

The brig Merced, of New York from Cadiz, brings papers to the 18th ult. It appears from the French Consulate notice published at Cadiz, 12th Nov. 1825, that the plague which had been introduced into the port of Malaga by the vessels commanded by captains Audibert and Bannou, had been completely extirpated. Many other vessels arrived at that port from Alexandria, in Egypt, and which were suspected to have received their bills of health. The bells pealed a Te Deum in rejoicings at the disappearance of this scourge.
